

ISU - BOTANICAL EXCURSION 2019
WEST PYRENEES MOUNTAINS ON THE SPANISH SIDE
30TH OF JUNE – 7TH OF JULY

Aragon area is in the west of the Pyrenees mountains, on the Spanish side. That region has an important diversity of climate, between the mediterranean sea and the ocean. Lots of influences producing lots of different microclimates. Additionally, with the mountains and the different levels, it's a diverse areas, dry or humid, cold and very warm. So you can find around 4000 taxas. Enough for a week.

Jacques Urban will be our guide. He lives near Pau in France. He was a nursery man but now retired since two years. But he still works on the taxonomy of plants and birds. On Sunday the 30th of June, the excursion will begin in Pau, from the airport.

We will rent some cars. I will be with my own car also. It's better than a bus because we will have to take some narrow roads in Spain. Two hours to go to Jaca. For the organization, it should be better if everybody will be in Pau before 17 o'clock. Some planes are flying from Paris to Pau every day. The alternative to arrive at the airport of San Sebastian is possible, but not so easy.

We should live during the week in the Gran Hotel in Jaca. It's a touristic place, a very interesting town, with lot of restaurants and pubs where you can eat tapas and drink almost all the night. So we propose a half pension with bed, breakfast and a bag for the lunch in the mountain...and free for the dinner.
